A rumor is going the rounds here that last week a heals who wished to emigrate to Molokai, and in order to evade the quarantine regulations here. in order to evame the quarantime regulations here, had himself put into a large packing case, well perforated with holes, marked "vegetables" and singled as freight on deck to that island. The vessel reached the port the same night after leaving thouclain, and the hor of "vegetables" was duly landed. The habit upon finding himself safely on shore immediately set to work to unpack himself, which he succeeded in doing in a short time, much to the astonishment of several natives, who were on the beach to receive and eare for the freight, and who on his appearance in their midst, immediately took to their heels and left him alone in his glory. On their return some time after, the natives found an empty packing case, but the heels had gone to better quarters. By this master stroke, a passage was secured to Molokai for the low sum of fifty cents.

SECOND DAY. On Monday the 23d inst. the inquest was continued, the jury meeting at 1 P. M. at the Marshal's Office. The following witnesses were examine on oath:

James Hayselden. Am an architect and builder by occupation. Have examined the ruins of St. Louis College. The whole cause of the disaster in my opinion was the weakness of the foot-brace of the roof, which was in the place of a tie-beam it was not of proper size to hold any considerable strain; the joists were not mortised and tenoued the plan did not include iron rods; at the time the the plan did not include from rods; at the time the plan was submitted. I gave my opinion to Mr. Wall, the architect, that the roof would not stand; about three weeks ago visited the premises for the first time, and saw that the plate was bulged out from 4 to 5 inches; the weight of the roof had pressed it out that much; one of the persons con-nected with the school wits with me and I drew his attention to the state of the roof, that it was not safe, did not on purels became I folicities. by eight—merely a board, where the principa strength should be; ceiling joists were nailed edgeways into the tie or brace, tending to weak engreases into the the or brace, tending to weak-ness; the great weight of the plastering had a ten-dency to split the tie or brace, which was not strong enough for plastering; the time allowed for putting up the building was quite short; don't remarks how here. remember how long.

They are happy, contented, work well, and have examined the rums of St. Louis College, and concar with the last two witnessess in regard to the walking a total value of outward cargo of $07, $12.34.

We hear that at Onomea, Hawnii, Mr. Austin has been especially successful with his Portuguese. They are happy, contented, work well, and have sent good reports home. The single men receive $8 a menth each : a man and his wife $14 between them. They supply their own food. What specially pleases them is that they have had small patches of ground alledted to thein which they cultivate, raising vegetables for their own consamption. Many of the gardens are said to be very pretty.

Later accounts from the lava flow are more satisfactory. A number of people have visited it, and most agree that there is little danger either to the Wanken plantation or to the town. Father Coan, the patriarch of volcanic phenomena, as some people call him, says he does not think that at its present rate of progress the law would reach the sea in two years. However, it is not pleasant to have as neighbor such a slumbering monster as a lava flow, and we shall be glad to hear when Madame Pele has decided to put her furnace out.

The latest from the lava flow comes through Rev. Silas Coan who visited the spot on Tuesday, months, perhaps years, will clapse before the flow reaches the sea. The latest from the lava flow comes through Rev. Silas Coan who visited the spot on Thesday, May 17th. He represents the stream as exceedingly singuists, and gives it as his opinion that many months, perhaps years, will clapse before the flow reaches the sea. Nor does he consider Hilo as lying in its direct course. He states that its distance from Hilo has been greatly overestimated, that its nearest point is at least six miles from Hilo has been greatly overestimated, that its nearest point is at least six miles from Hilo in a direct line, and to reach the flow one must travel not less than eight miles. So great is the faith of the natives in this authority that they have already circulated the story that the lava stream has ceased to flow.
